US Sugar Outlook Improves

Glades sugar acreage and production in the 1956-57 crop season will not be affected by the recent Congressional amendment of the Sugar Act, but it is hoped increased acreage will ensue in the 1957-58 season. Glades sugar officials informed OBSERVER this week.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers was reported jubilant over final Congressional okay of the bill he introduced during the last session of the House, which was altered only slightly by joint Senate-House action.

The bill amends and extends the Sugar Act of 1948, effective Jan. 1, 1956 to Dec. 31, 1960, and requires only President Eisenhower's signature to become law.

Harry Vaughn, executive vice president and general manager of U. S. Sugar Corporation at Cliverton, told OBSERVER the Congressional action appears to be "what we've been fighting for during the past two years."

He explained that sugar consumption in the U.S. has been increasing about 135,000 tons per year, but that Cuban sugar interests had been getting the lion's share of the increased market while U.S. sugar acreage was continually being cut because of "over-production."

John McKenzie, manager of the Okaloosa Sugar Refinery, Inc. at Okaloosa, reserved extensive comment on the Rogers amendment until he could study the revised Sugar Act and the president signs the bill. He did say he felt the bill might result in no further acreage reduction by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for the 1957-58 crop. The USDA has Okaloosa acreage from 3850 acres down to 3350 acres for the '56-57 crop, he said.

Vaughn said his guess is that the Rogers bill, if it becomes law, will make it possible to put on the market for sale some of the 400,000 tons of sugar which Florida and Louisiana sugar interests now have in storage.

Basic provisions of the Rogers bill provide percentages of increased demand in the U.S. for 55 percent of this year's sugar consumption to domestic producers and 45 percent to foreign suppliers. According to Vaughn, the 45 percent increase cited above, about 50 percent would go to Florida and Louisiana, which have "an area," and the remainder to sugarbeet areas.

Neither Vaughn nor McKenzie saw change in operations of their respective corporations because of the legislation, until possibly for which the 1957-58 crop season, for which the sugar acreage allocations might be altered.

Cadet Leo James Wins Air Award

BELLE GLADE — Leo James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Collier, and a member of this year's Belle Glade high school graduating class, received word last week that he is one of four Civil Air Patrol cadets from the state of Florida to be selected for the CAP International Cadet Exchange.

One hundred forty cadets were selected in the United States. They will each be given an all-expense trip to another country, and in turn a cadet from that country will receive a trip to this country. Leo will go to Great Britain for a month, leaving in July. He will travel by military transport.

The exchange cadets were selected by national headquarters in Washington. Each squadron was entitled to submit a nominee to participate. Upon nomination, he submitted a report of medical examination, his life history, and his service record in the CAP.

Leo, one of four to go from Florida, was notified last week by mail of his selection. He says he is "still floating." He hopes to enter the University of Florida in September, if he is able to manage the financial problems involved. He is not sure what he will major in but will take general college courses for the first two years.

PAHOKEE'S MOST BEAUTIFUL GALS brightened festivities at the city's harbor dedication over the weekend. Crowned "Miss Pahokee Harbor of 1956" was Jan Chastain, center, with Mayor Dick Parrish at the microphone. Runners-up in the beauty contest sponsored by Jaycees were Beth Smith, left, and Betty Rainier.

HARBOR DEDICATION DIGNITARIES got this partial view of Pahokee Harbor from lake end of dock. On Sunday cars jammed levee in foreground along 1/4-mile amphitheatre front.

HARBOR DULY DEDICATED WITH Fire Equipment BIG CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE Quenches Blaze

PAHOKEE — This city's new $200,000 harbor—the first and only protected one on Lake Okechobee—was officially dedicated to "midst splendor and excitement over the weekend as throngs of spectators from Glades communities and dignitaries from all over Florida gathered for the occasion.

Attorney General Ervin headed the delegation of dignitaries and made the dedication address, which was brief and to-the-point.

Crowds estimated at 5,000 and 10,000 were at Saturday and Sunday events, respectively. It was believed the congregations were among the greatest to attend any Lake Okechobee function and served to make legitimate Pahokee's claim of being "sports capital of Okechobeeland."

Highlights of the two-day celebration were water sports activities on Sunday, when professional boat racers from all over Florida competed in races made hazardous by unusually rough water brought on by rain squalls. World, national and state champion boat racers and water skiers displayed their prowess as autos jammed the quarter-mile dike amphitheatre overlooking the lake.

Proud as Pahokee was over the celebration, its citizens found great satisfaction in the spontaneous community spirit which was evident.

Jaycees promoted and conducted the beauty contest which led to crowning Miss Jan Chastain as "Miss Pahokee Harbor of 1956." Pahokee Boat Club under Commodore Joe Cherry sponsored the boat races said by Paxton Hill, president of Florida Federation of Outboard Clubs, to have been among most thrilling he's seen; American Legion Post No. 90, which concluded its boat ticket selling at the celebration (winner was O. D. Hataway of Indian town); and Boy Scouts, BPW, Lions, Rotary, and Elks' clubs which conducted concession stands or otherwise helped with activities.

Most of all, the dedication was an outstanding achievement for the Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the affair and took initiative in lining up events.

An example of "anonymous" aid to the celebration was contribution of funds for cash awards to winning boat drivers by firms and individuals in Canal Point and Pahokee.

MAYOR PARRISH TAKES OATH; TAX EXEMPTION FIGHT LOOMS

PAHOKEE — Mayor F. S. "Dick" Parrish and other elected officials were officially sworn in at a special adjourned meeting of the City Council Monday night, but the ceremonies were almost overshadowed by discussions on granting of tax exemptions to "new businesses."

The talk-fest centered on the council's action last week in granting Joseph Kahn a five-year tax exemption on a proposed new $100,000 shopping center on Bacon Point Rd. which would house a "national grocery chain" store.

Discussion on the tax exemption was tabled, but the matter will come up at Monday night's regular council meeting when an ordinance governing the matter comes up for consideration.

Following Mayor Parrish, Friend swore in Parrish, his successor, and Councilman Loren Meredith. He also officiated at the signing of the $50,000 Agreement from the Port of Palm Beach by which the port has committed itself to make annual payments of $5,000 for 10 years to the city to help retire the indebtedness incurred with the building of the city's new breakwater.

Councilman George H. Tucker, Jr. was elected president of the council, and Mrs. L. W. Armstrong, president pro tem. Assigning responsibility for being departmental heads were Councilman Tucker, sanitation; John Hatten, water; Mrs. Armstrong, parks, fire, department and finance; Edgar Wilder, streets; Meredith, police.

Appearing to voice opposition to the shopping center tax exemption was Elmer "Babs" Upthegrove, who last week opened (Continued On Page 8)

BG Comm. Stops Ellison Building

BELLE GLADE — Controversy over a building permit issued to John Ellison for construction of a frame house on NW Ave. E. highlighted the meeting of city commission Wednesday night.

Property owners and residents in the vicinity of the Ellison house, which had been under construction by an out-of-city firm, contended that the dwelling would not be in conformity with city zoning requirements because it would not be in line with values and types of other nearby homes.

Commission voted to issue a "stop-order" to halt construction until it can inspect the situation and reach a permanent decision at its next meeting. In explaining his original issuance of a building permit, Inspector W. L. Cunningham said he considered the possible "mistake of head or heart" involved.

A year's extension on condemnation proceedings was granted for buildings owned by J. T. Houston and N. C. Jones. Ordinances accepted covered the city's previously arrived-at decision on laying water mains ordinance make parents of teen-agers under 18 years old responsible for their offspring's driving.

Each year state and private forest tree nurseries supply million pine seedlings for reforestation but millions more are wanted.

Medfly Is 'Hitch-hiker'; Glades In Quarantine

BELLE GLADE — With Glades growers and produce men thrown in a "tizzy" by the quarantine slipped on movement of Palm Beach County produce, agents of the U.S. Department of Agriculture informed GLADES OBSERVER that chief concern over the Mediterranean fruit fly situation here is that the dreaded flies might become "hitchhikers" on outgoing shipments and thus spread the infestations elsewhere over the state.

J. C. Haley, transferred to the Miami USDA office from South Carolina for the emergency, headed a USDA-State Plant Board team in the Glades area Wednesday. He said discovery of the Medfly larvae at the Experiment Station led to decision to spray grounds of the station by air yesterday. Citrus trees around the station and city limits of Belle Glade were also sprayed yesterday to help confine the infestation.

Meanwhile, all shipment of eggplant and pepper from the Glades was banned. Truckers were required to submit manifests to the office of Assistant County Agent H. L. Speer in order to get required certificates showing they were hauling no eggplant or pepper. Because of a shortage of personnel, truckers were delayed as much as two or three hours in getting permits.

Rail shipments were not delayed, although bills of lading were required by federal agents before certifying each carload of produce for shipment.

Haley said the Glades infestation took authorities by surprise, and it now has an "emergency status." Inspectors were on the job here six hours after the discovery of the larvae in grapefruit by Emory Wolf, of the station staff.

Inspector Haley explained that the spray used to combat the fly infestation was a mixture of malathion powder in water and would not be harmful to humans or animals. Only possible danger might be to goldfish in ornamental ponds, he said.

To help man "sue up at Hwy. 1" Lucie Canal, the state patrol district was ordered to disperse the officers to the area.

GRAD IN OF

The next to will see Glades high school seniors participating in colorful activities attendant to their graduation. Belle Glade high school graduation will be next Friday night, Pahokee's on June 4.

In Belle Glade, class night exercises tonight, 8 p.m., at the high school auditorium, numerous awards will be given out and the seniors will present a skit, the theme of which is being kept secret.

Sunday evening, the baccalaureate services will be held at the Community Methodist Church. Rev. H. E. Garrett will give the invocation. Rev. J. Leighton Scott will deliver the sermon, using as his subject, "Things Worth While." The benediction will be given by Rev. J. M. Gresham. The Belle Glade Glee Club will sing several selections, and the Girls' Trio will also be heard.

Pahokee seniors will have Class Night June 1st, and baccalaureate services June 3rd.

PO's Take Hint: New Summer Hours

The Pahokee post office will close each Wednesday afternoon at 12 noon during the summer months, starting June 6 and extending through September, according to Postmaster E. A. Jensen. Although there will be no window service Wednesday afternoon, mail will be put in bins, and dispatched as usual. This is government approval as an economy measure.

The Belle Glade post office has already received orders to close the windows every afternoon at five, except Saturdays, when they will close at noon. Mrs. Floss Nash, assistant postmaster, stated that the Belle Glade office will also close each Wednesday noon for the summer months, beginning June 6.

BIG DAY COMING UP: How will next Tuesday's Stevenson-Kefauver battle in Florida wind up? After the weeks came out in Oregon last Friday, the odds here indicate that Florida might not go "all the way with Adlai" but that he will win easily, Congressman Bob Sikes, who is managing Stevenson's Florida campaign.

BIG FLASH: Latest press report on Congressman Charlie Bennett's boy is that the young man took his first step last week. In fact he took four in succession. Born July 2, 1955, Charlie, Jr., has consistently reflected his father's talent for staying in the headlines.

FLORIDA ALUMNI: The alumni of the University of Florida who live in Washington gave a reception last week in the Senate Caucus room for members of the Florida Congressional Delegation. The Alumni Club, numbering better than 150, is headed this year by Al Brier, attorney formerly of Marianna. All members of the delegation are Alumni of the University except Jim Haley. Dante Fascell and Bill Cramer.

SWEET STORY: Score this one for Congressman Paul Rogers — with an assist from Senator Holland. Rogers' sugar bill has gone to the White House for the signature of the President. Last year, Rogers introduced a bill to readjust the sugar quotas for domestic producers. The bill passed — went to the Senate — was changed — went to a conference committee — was reported out last week to the satisfaction of both Houses. Under the old law, Cuba was getting about 96% of all sugar consumption in this country. And the consumption was increasing rapidly each year. Under Rogers' bill, domestic producers would get 55% of all new business with 45% of it going to the foreign trade. This new law will hold good for the next 10 years. The president is expected to sign it this week.

WCTU OFF BASE: When young folks get together to drink Cokes and dance to a juke box they have to ante up an extra 20% tax. Sam as "cabaret tax" — Congressmen Syd Herlong — thinks this was not the intent of Congress when the cabaret tax was set up. He says the tax was meant for cabarets and not milk bars. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee — now rewriting that law — Herlong has received many letters from WCTU members asking him to take a stand for continuing the present tax. "I'm pointing out to the people who write to me that milk bars and soda fountains shouldn't have to pay a cabaret tax — a part of the law which I suspect has been very loosely enforced. I think it should be changed. And I think it will be."

BY SCHATZI

(Schatzi's column copy failed to reach OBSERVER by press-time. She was off to assignment to swim non-stop from Havana to Miami (to heck with the Key!) — reportedly the first dachshund to attempt this feat. (Our guess is that Schatzi's aqua challenge was more than she bargained for. She spent the weekend with the "Powder Puff Derby" international gal pilots, so perhaps she's just being dillydally because of still being "up in the air" — in fact, she still isn't "in the swim." — Editor.)

CANAL POINT LUNCHEON HAS SATISFYING YEAR

The Canal Point school lunchroom under the management of Mrs. Oliver Hatfield and her assistant Mrs. Spires will close its doors for the 1955-56 term with the satisfaction of knowing that this has been a successful year with the cooperation of many PTA members and other interested citizens.

Some are Fred Spires, Board Member A. R. Harrington, Mrs. Billie Huddle, Mrs. O. H. Chastain, Mr. Pitts, the packing house managers who donated a great part of the fresh vegetables, and Mrs. Lester Armour who saw that each donation was immediately carried to the lunch room.

Mrs. A. R. Harrington and Mrs. R. T. Smith saw that the kitchen was supplied with towels. The PAAHOKEE — Canal Point Garden Club did their part in helping to keep the dining room cheerful with potted plants. Mrs. O. H. Sheppard carried a watchful eye on the plants and replaced the out-of-season ones for those in season. The rubber runner placed in the dining room was just one of the many things the PTA did to build a better lunch room. Fred Spires, janitor, did a great service beyond the call of duty, by mowing and furnishing fresh flowers for the tables.

The program could have never been a success without the splendid untiring efforts of Principal Carl Crawford and his staff of teachers in directing the pupils in the practice of being reverent, pleasant and orderly during the lunch hour.

Health Campaigns In BG, Pahokee

End-of-the-season campaigns in the Glades are aimed at the health and welfare of area residents. A mental health fund drive is in operation in Belle Glade under sponsorship of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, and in Pahokee, where contributions (pennies to dollars) may be sent to Mrs. E. C. Johnson, Box 1078.

Pahokee Jaycees started a campaign this week to induce every resident to submit himself to blood tests on Wednesdays or Fridays at Everglades Memorial Hospital. Purpose of the campaign is to help the hospital establish a "walking blood bank" so persons with the correct type of blood could be called to donate in time of emergency. Also, if a person's blood type is known when he is injured, precious time is saved should a transfusion be necessary.

ed his new supermarket addition in Pahokee. He said he was not afraid of competition but merely wanted to be given the same tax exemptions which might be passed along to competing businesses. He said the council "has not done right" in its action.

Also speaking on the issue were Marshall Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snyder, Duncan Padgett and Lewis Friend. Council determined that the exemption would cover only the image imposed for the city's general operating budget, and on the basis for last year's levy, would amount to about $975 per year, or $4,875 for five years.

City Attorney Ralph Johnson read the legislative act which governs the city's right to grant tax exemptions. It reads in part as follows:

"An act . . . providing for exemption from taxes for certain new industries and businesses . . . for the purpose of encouraging new business or industries to locate in the City of Pahokee . . . and the improvement of the same . . . the City Council shall have the right . . . to provide for the exemption from taxes of the real and personal property of any person, firm, or corporation who shall agree to maintain any manufacturing, business or enterprise . . . exemption shall not be for a longer period of time than ten years . . ."
